DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Claims 22-25 and 32-36 stand withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on April 22, 2005.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 17 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In the claim 17, the one terminal should be connected to the means for receiving and holding in lieu of the electrode since the electrode has not been positively claimed. Claim 20 references RF currents that have not been previously recited.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 16-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Feucht (5,067,953) in view of Garito et al (5,954,686). The basic system is disclosed by Feucht and includes a handpiece having multiple fingerswitches. Each of the fingerswitches includes a component to effect the output of a distinctive control signal for controlling operation of an electrosurgical instrument. Garito et al discloses the same electrosurgical instrument as set forth in applicant's disclosure. It would have been obvious to employ the switching system as disclosed by Feucht with the instrument as shown by Garito et al since it effects superior control of the electrosurgical instrument. Particular control currents would have been mere design expedients to the skilled artisan to select to optimize performance.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 21 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The other cited art discloses similar switching arrangements.
